Description Selecting the Password field causes an Error alert. If you have filled in a Username it states that the login information is incorrect. If you haven't it states Invalid Proxy Server Response. It does this prior to typing anything. These errors happen twice directly on top of each other. Closing them both will allow you to navigate away as long as you are quick as they reopen seconds later. Web console log and Screenshots Provided. No difference if you tab select or click on the field.
