Description
Running OS version 11.2-release, new GUI reports inconsistent/faulty analytics. Specifically: Dashboard -> Memory Graph Looking at the graph, it seems that at specific point in time (represented by the graph) memory usage of the OS dropped from 6.26 GiB to a 0 GiB That's is not a real data. System continues to operate as expected, legacy UI report for the RAM usage dose not corroborate the drop shown in the new UI. Please see screen-shots attached: Client connected to the system for administration: OS: Debian 9 (Stretch) + Gnome Desktop Browser01: Mozilla Firefox Ver: 60.4.0esr (64-bit) Browser02: Chromium Version 71.0.3578.80 Protocol: HTTP Issue persist regarding of the brand/version of the browser(s) used. Same issue regarding Dashboard -> CPU temperature graphs. Please let me know if the separate ticket should be opened to address the CPU temp graph. Please let me know if additional information needed for diagnostics. Thank you FreeNAS Dev team ;) D. Thanks for the report.

This is a known bug of reporting in new UI, which shows 0 values for the end of the time period.
I cant seem to find the duplicate issue # number, but I will post it here later if I can.
