It seems that the middleware auto sets this value by default if nothing is passed in (which is the case of the checkbox being left unchecked by default as it currently is and not being checked and unchecked). An easy fix to this is to check the box by default (as the old UI does) and then when the user unchecks the box it sets the value to false.

Master PR: <https://github.com/freenas/webui/pull/1944>

Testing criteria: the checkbox for "Change User & Group Ownership" in Webdav will be checked by default and when unchecked and saved it will result in a share that does not have this option enabled.

Fixed description:

I have left unchecked "Change User & Group Ownership" due to creation of new share, it has changed ownership to webdav user and webdav group for all affected files and folders under selected folder and saved this wrong checked status. This bug is file-ownership-modification-issue
